

PLANNING SHEET FOR CATHOLIC FUNERAL MASS

Families: This planning sheet is designed to help guide you through some of the different choices you can make as you plan the funeral Mass for a loved one.

The areas shaded in gray designate where you can select a song or Scripture reading, or where family members can assist in the funeral liturgy. Please note that families can be involved as much or as little as they like in these selections. Our clergy and funeral ministry team are ready to assist in any way needed!

For Scripture selections please see our PDF at www.stjohnsp.org/funeral_planning or the Preparing a Catholic Funeral booklet available in our Parish Office.

For music selections please see pages 3-4 of this planning sheet.

Please Note: Eulogies are not offered during a Catholic Funeral Mass at St. John. We encourage families who would like to share memories of loved ones to use the time of visitation at the funeral home, or the wake service, to do so. Families may also use the time at a funeral luncheon or reception to share memories.

SELECTING MUSIC FOR THE FUNERAL LITURGY

Revised summer 2019

The Role of Music in the Funeral Liturgy

As you begin to plan the funeral of a loved one, you will be called upon to make important choices about the readings and prayers to be used during the rites. As you make these decisions, consider also the incredible power of music in the funeral Mass. Music may help us to express feelings that words alone may fail to convey. It may console and uplift us in times of sadness, and unite us with other mourners in faith and love. The music to be sung during the funeral liturgy need not necessarily be sad; rather, it can express our faith and joy in the resurrection. The Music Ministry of St. John the Evangelist is committed to providing you with music that will offer comfort and hope to those who gather to remember a loved one.

Selecting the Music

If you have any questions regarding music, please contact Helen Kirby, Director of Music and Worship. She will be able to advise you about the musical selections, arrange for musicians, and answer any questions you may have. The best way to contact her is via email (hkirby@stjohnsp.org).

Sacred and Secular

The music to be used in any Catholic funeral liturgy must first and foremost be liturgical music – that is, music that expresses the faith of the church and has been approved for use in worship. Sacred music exists in a variety of styles, from chant to traditional hymns to contemporary songs. Music from secular sources is not permitted in church, but can be incorporated outside of the funeral Mass during the wake or at a meal following the burial service.

Recorded Music

According to a recent document published by the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops, "Recorded music lacks the authenticity provided by a living liturgical assembly gathered for the Sacred Liturgy." (Sing to the Lord, 93) It is for this reason that the use of recorded music during the funeral Mass is strongly discouraged.

Suggested Musical Selections

A list of the most appropriate and most widely-requested liturgical music for funerals is provided. Many of these hymns can be found in the church's Gather III or One In Faith hymnals. Congregational singing is a sign of our unity and is strongly encouraged, but a solo piece sung by the cantor may be appropriate at other times during the liturgy. The suggested liturgical use for all of the traditional musical selections is provided. Contemporary songs found in the worship supplement booklets may also be used. Helen can provide you with a list of the songs in the current booklet.

We hope that this information is helpful. If you have any questions about music or the funeral liturgy, please contact Helen Kirby or the church.
